Internationally recognized for its unique methodology, Spaeth Training, powered by Sunwest Communications, is a copyrighted methodology developed by strategic communications and crisis management expert Merrie Spaeth. Spaeth Training incorporates the significance of both word choice and nonverbal cues to transform how clients think about communication.

Leveraging an abundance of relevant, real-world examples, this hands-on training approach provides the tools to give clients a competitive advantage as they seek to influence and drive action with their most important stakeholders. Upon completing a Spaeth Training course, clients are well positioned to navigate the most difficult of communication scenarios, whether that's in front of a camera, on the witness stand or at the podium with stockholders, stakeholders or employees.
